Whyfore Doth Thou Kick?

The fact that two more rural delivery routes are about to be established from Jasper, has aroused the Lamar Republican to such an extent that it declares "it is time to kick." This objection seems to be from the fact that Jasper is in Jasper county and the new routes are to extend into Barton county. Why that should arouse Lamar's kicking propensities we are unable to understand. The new routes having their headquarters in Jasper county will in no way hurt Lamar or Barton county, but on the other hand will extend to a large number of Barton county citizens the advantage of rural free delivery. The territory covered by these two new routes can be reached better from Jasper than any other town and that is of first importance. County lines cut no figures when mapping out rural routes. Does not a route run from Golden City down into Jasper county? Yet we have heard no complaint from Jasper county because of that fact.

There has been a great deal of false notions connected with the establishing of the rural free delivery system. At first quite a number of town people objected to it for fear it might hurt the town, on the theory that if the farmer didn't come to town after his mail he wouldn't come at all. This theory exploded immediately after the system went into operation. When the Carthage route which comes almost to the suburbs of Jasper was established there were many who thought it would be a hard blow to this town, but their fears proved to be groundless. The conclusion of the matter is, then, that so far as the prosperity of the town is concerned it makes very little difference where the farmer gets his mail. We have reached the point where we can rejoice with the farmers who are fortunate enough to secure a route, although it may come from Carthage, Golden City, or even Lamar.

The War Between Vegetarians and Meat Eaters.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

Popular interest in the never ending controversy between the vegetarians and the meat eaters is increased by the growing tendency of mankind to concern itself more seriously about the laws of health and the principles of hygiene.

These people are not only paying more attention to questions of sanitation and disease prevention, but there is manifest a growing disposition to explore the field of dietetics. Rational adaptation of diet to the physical and mental needs of the individual is becoming more common and is fast displacing the family medicine chest.

There seems to be general agreement among the dietary experts on the proposition that our errors in diet are commonly on the side of excessive meat eating. While declaring that Americans eat too much meat, Professor W. GILMAN THOMPSON, an authority on dietetics, recently spoke of vegetarianism in an address as follows:

In regard to an exclusive or almost exclusive vegetable diet for man, the universal experience has been that while it may keep him in apparent health for some time, it eventually results in a loss of strength and general resistance power against disease, which becomes evident after some months, if not before.

It is impossible to subsist for any length of time on a diet which does not contain a considerable quantity of nitrogen. A purely vegetable diet is usually indigestible and causes muscular weakness and languor, with disinclination for either physical or mental work.

In answer to this statement an army of vegetarians will come forward to inform Dr. Thompson that they subsist entirely upon a vegetable diet and are alive and hearty. After all is said on either side a rational system of dietetics would seem to demand an adjustment of the proportion of meat and vegetables in accordance with the daily employment and physical condition of the individual.

This is not as close a spring as a person would have expected after last season's drought, judging from the way the people are indulging in luxuries. The merchants say they are selling more silks than ever before.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. A. M. CRANDALL.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when my son was suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician, who stands high in his profession. After administering three doses of it, my son regained consciousness and recovered entirely within twenty-four hours," says Mrs. Mary Haller, of Mt. Crawford, Va. This Remedy is for sale by Webb Drug & Hardware Co.

Wood For Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I have seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—SALLIE HARRIS, Salem, N. Y. For sale by Webb Drug & Hardware Co.

PORTABLE HOG PEN.

With It Pigs Can Be Moved About from One Feeding Ground to Another as Desired.

The illustration shows an improved A-shaped hog pen, the improvement consisting in the shoes that allow it to be moved from one place to another, in the swinging door at the end, and especially in the hinging of the side, which permits it to be raised and the interior cleaned out whenever necessary. When the side swings down again into place the upper end fits up under the short boards at the top.

This house need not be more than five feet high from ground to peak.

and with it the hogs can be moved about from one feeding ground to another as desired. Use single boarding, but have the boards tongued and grooved, and well covered with paint. The building will then be watertight and will last for years. Make the floor space of a size to accommodate the number of hogs to be kept.—Orange Judd Farmer.

SLOP FOR THE PIGS.

Experiments Demonstrate That There Is But Small Gain in Mixing Grain with Water.

The Indiana station has reported some data on a question which often arises in pig feeding—namely, what is the advantage of mixing the grain feed with water and how thick or how thin should slop be fed? Four lots of four pigs each were used in a test which covered about five months. For about three months all the pigs were fed meal and shorts. During the remainder of the time hominy feed replaced the corn. Lot 1 was given the ration dry; lot 2 was fed the grain mixed with an equal weight of water; while in the case of lot 3 it was mixed with twice and in the case of lot 4 three times its weight in water. In addition to the dry grain or slop the pigs were supplied with all the drinking water they desired, and the amount consumed was recorded.

The Great Dismal Swamp.

Of Virginia is a breeding ground of Malaria germs. So is low, wet or marshy ground everywhere. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous maladies. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malarial troubles. They will surely prevent typhoid. "We tried many remedies for Malaria and Stomach and Liver trouble," writes John Charleston, of Byesville, O., "but never found anything as good as Electric Bitters." Try them. Only 50c. at Webb Drug store guarantee satisfaction.

The average daily gains of the four lots were in every case a little over four pounds a day. The gain required per pound of gain by the four lots were 3.59, 3.80, 3.74 and 2.75 pounds respectively, while the cost of food per pound of gain ranged from 2.57 cents in the case of lot 1 to 3.04 cents in the case of lot 2. In view of the fact that the pigs fed dry grain made slightly better gains than those fed grain mixed with water in the form of slops, it would appear that there is really no gain in feeding the pigs a slop instead of a dry grain, excepting as a feeder may regard it a matter of convenience.

TIMELY STOCK NOTES.

In raising calves for the dairy, commence with the breeding.

Usually wean such calves from their dams when five days old.

If horses have pin worms, try an injection of soap and weak tobacco tea night and morning.

When a bull's hair is rough and looks dead, feed a good quality of oil cake and card him thoroughly.

Beware of disease if you buy sheep or swine from a distance that have passed through stock yards and have been transported in the cars.

For wounds from barbed wire, apply carbolic acid, one part with lard, eight parts. Cleanse the wound first. Then substitute another sort of fence.

Wool Business Is Reviving.

The wool business shows many signs of improvement. The hardening prices abroad and the good inquiry on domestic account have created a bullish feeling in the trade, and most of the eastern concerns predict higher prices later in the season. For the sheepman on the range this promises to be a good year. Mutton, to be in line with other meat products, must advance, which it is more likely to do than that other meats will come down to its level. For the man who feels results are problematical, but even he will not be the loser if the upward trend of the market continues.—Chicago Daily Sun.

How to Prevent Runaways.

The man who wants to be sure of having a safe driving horse will do all in his power to prevent that horse from ever getting beyond control. If the horse gets to run away once he is liable to be an unsafe animal ever afterward. It is a tribute to the good disposition and good sense of the horse that more of them are not ruined by carelessness. Unsafe harness, neglect to fasten properly, carelessness of reckless driving, constant nagging until the horse is nervous, or the infliction of pain in biting or reining are common with young horses being broken to drive. It is a wonder that there are not more runaways than now recorded.—National Stockman.

A Doctor's Bad Plight.

"Two years ago, as a result of a severe cold, I lost my voice," writes Dr. M. L. Scarbrough, of Hebron, Ohio, "then began an obstinate cough. Every remedy known to me as a practicing physician for 35 years, failed, and I daily grew worse." Being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, I found quick relief and for last ten days have felt better than for two years. Positively guaranteed for Throat and Lung troubles by Webb Bro. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Testimonial—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialists of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain

Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.
